

UPDATE FROM CHRIS CAMPBELL

www.lookatchris.com

I wanted to share with you an amazing experience I just had...

I performed in Christopher Shinn's "Dying City" with Jeremy Folmer, directed by Alyson Schacherer for two weekends in October at The Barrow Group and the production and feedback could not have been more gratifying...

Not only was the process exciting and artistically satisfying, but the reactions of those who saw it really blew us away. Unfortunately Chris Shinn was unable to make it, but he kindly sent us an email that said "A number of friends of mine saw the play and loved the production. Zach Booth [of Damages] tweeted about how amazing the production was. Congratulations again..."

So just wanted to share the good feelings and great photography by Abi Litwak, with you. Thanks for all your support, I hope you have a joyous holiday season!

Chris